

THE AMERICAN CLUB.—Among the events of the past month is the formation of an American Club in Honolulu, on the plan of the British and German Clubs, the object of all of which is the intellectual improvement and social enjoyment of its members. The American Club numbers about two hundred members, and they have rented the spacious Hooper premises, which are to be fitted up for their use. The rooms will be furnished with a large supply of papers and periodicals from all parts of the world, which have been ordered. On the 4th of July the Club met at their rooms, as will be seen by a notice in another column, on which occasion the Declaration of Independence will be read, and in the evening a Ball will be given at the Court House.

THE CLIPPER BARK YANKEE.—This fine packet sails again for San Francisco on Saturday next, under the command of Capt. Jas. Smith, who has been serving for years on the route, gaining new favors with the public on each successive trip. The bark is a model of what a packet should be, a fast sailor, neat and commodious. While speaking of her sailing qualities, we must tell an incident that occurred on her last trip to this port. The clipper ship Carrier Dove, (a full clipper bound to Sydney,) sailed from San Francisco, about eighteen hours before the Yankee. About daybreak on her second day out, the Yankee raised a sail, hull down, on her larboard bow, and about breakfast had brought her hull up. Both vessels were under a press of canvas, but about 4 o'clock P.M. of the same day, the Yankee went past the clipper as easily as if she had been a steamer, and the next morning could only see her masts far astern.

Great Excitement in San Francisco. Re-organization of the Vigilance Committee.

San Francisco was thrown into great excitement on the 15th of May, by an attempt to assassinate James King of William, Editor of the Evening Bulletin, by James P. Casey, a discharged convict from Sing Sing prison. The cause of this trouble was the publication in the Bulletin by Mr. King that Casey had been in the above prison. During the afternoon of the above day, Casey met Mr. King near the corner of Washington and Montgomery streets, and Casey drew a revolver and shot Mr. King through the left breast near the arm-pit. Mr. King exclaimed "I am shot," and ran into the Pacific Express office, supported by some friends who approached him. In the twinkling of an eye Mr. Casey was run off to the Station house and locked up. In less than two hours we are writing this account, the street was filled with persons and the air immediately filled with cries of "hang him, hang him," "where is he," "where is he," run him up to the lamp post." In less than three minutes the street, about the corner above mentioned, was densely packed with human beings, who were in a wild state of excitement, running in every direction inquiring the cause of the assault, the condition of the wounded man, and the location of the prisoner.

Mr. Casey was immediately arrested and carried to the county jail, where he remained for several days. But the jail was soon surrounded by a great crowd, and the sheriff called out several companies of military to guard the jail, who refused to serve longer than the first day.

So excited were the people by this murder, that they demanded the reorganization of the Vigilance Committee, which existed four years since, and which was a terror to the dens which exist in that city. During the day of the murder and the following day 3,000 people enrolled themselves on the Vigilance Committee books, and bound themselves ready to execute the will of the people. This Committee held meetings every day, and on the 18th of May it was determined by them to take possession of Casey and a man named Cora who had also committed murder some months before but who had not been executed, to try them and if guilty hang them.

All the members of the Committee, who were respectable merchants and residents of San Francisco, were armed and organized as a military company, some on horseback and some on foot. At 12 o'clock on the 18th of May, the Vigilance Committee to the number of 3,000, all armed with guns and having several cannons also, assembled in Montgomery street, to proceed to the jail and demand the bodies of Casey and Cora.

The whole neighborhood about the block embracing the jail was completely appropriated by spectators, long before the arrival of the troops, but at their approach room was made for them, and the armed force at once went to work and cleared away the lookers on and drew up the different companies, so that they commanded the entrance to the jail. A detachment of the Committee were delegated to call at the door of the jail and request the Sheriff to place them in possession of the prisoners, Casey. On arriving at the door, three raps were made, upon which Sheriff Scannell from the inside opened the wicket, and Mr. Myers F. Truett, on behalf of the Committee, informed the officers of their errand, and wished the prisoner handcuffed and delivered to them at the jail door. Without any hesitation the Sheriff repaired to the cell of the prisoner and informed him that the Vigilance Committee were waiting at the door and demanded his person, and that he was compelled to yield him up; and that they wished him to be hand-cuffed.

Casey was delivered up by the Sheriff, who saw it was useless to resist the demand, and was taken handcuffed from the jail in a carriage to the room of the Vigilance Committee. After securing Casey as above, the Committee proceeded back to the jail and renewed their demand for Cora. The Sheriff declined to deliver the prisoner up, and asked for thirty minutes longer which was granted him, and then he declined, saying that they had the power, they could take the whole jail if they wished. They informed him that they regarded him as Sheriff and they would hold him responsible for the safe keeping of the rest of the prisoners. They only asked for the person of Charles Cora, and they must have it. Their requests were finally complied with, and he was delivered up, and was removed to the rooms in the same manner and with quite as large a crowd as attended Casey. On the 19th and 20th of May the two prisoners were tried before the Vigilance Committee and both were found guilty of murder, and sentenced to be hung. On the same day, the 20th, Mr. King died having lived five days since he was shot by Casey.

The announcement of his death was made, and the news went through the city like an electric shock. It passed from man to man, and street to street, until in a few moments it was known all over the city. The first impulse of the masses was to rush towards the rooms of the Vigilance Committee, on Sacramento street, as an impression seemed to prevail that they would at once proceed to execute the prisoner Casey, on the reception of the news.

and other places of business, were immediately closed; the significant sable emblems were everywhere visible, and were profusely displayed from all the hotels and public buildings and many private residences. For several days there had been a general suspension of all business affairs, and shops of every kind were closed up, even the restaurants and drinking saloons closed their doors and hung emblems of mourning. The streets were filled with unemployed persons who were passing about the city in silence and sorrow.

EXECUTION OF CASEY AND CORA.
While the last tokens of respect were being paid to the memory of Mr. King, at the church, a very different proceeding was going on at the rooms of the Vigilance Committee.

Notwithstanding the great gathering at the funeral, the rooms of the Committee were surrounded by about 20,000 people, who had got an intimation of the proposed execution, and hurried to the spot. The most formidable guard was arranged, which embraced all the arms of the Committee, consisting of about 3,000 stand of muskets and two field pieces. The streets in the immediate vicinity of the rooms were cleared by the soldiers, and the bristling bayonets were displayed in every direction, and made the scene one of great solemnity. One of the field pieces was planted so as to command Front Street. At about one o'clock, workmen were seen preparing the dreaded gallows in front of the Committee room, and this preparation drew together an immense throng.

The plan to carry out the execution of the death penalty upon the prisoners was very simple, yet convenient. The rooms of the Committee are in a two story granite building, and a platform was extended from each of two front windows of the second floor, extending about three feet beyond the line of the building, and provided with a hinge at the outer line of the window-sill, the extreme end being held up by means of a cord attached to the beam, and to which the fatal rope was attached.

About one o'clock the prisoners were brought to the windows, in view of the multitude, dressed in their usual costume and mounted the platform, having their arms pointed. They both appeared to the firm, and but little affected by the dreadful fate that awaited them. Before placing the rope upon their necks an opportunity was given them to speak to the people assembled, when Casey said a few words.

Cora did not say a word, or desire to. He stood upon the scaffold during Casey's speech perfectly unmoved, and when the rope was put around his neck he was as unconcerned as before. He also pressed the cross to his lips often during his last moments.

At 20 minutes past one o'clock everything being ready to carry out the designs of the executioners, the signal was given and the cord that held up the outer end of the scaffold, or platform, was cut upon the roof of the building, and the doomed men were both launched into eternity, and suspended between the heaven and the earth. They were dropped about six feet and expired apparently without any struggling, save a few motions of the lower limbs. During this solemn and awful ceremony a perfect stillness and silence was observed by the vast throng who were spectators to the scene. The Guards and many of the citizens who were near uncovered their heads during the execution.

REMOVAL OF THE BODIES.
The bodies were allowed to hang until 15 minutes past 2 o'clock, or 55 minutes in all, when they were cut down and taken into the lower room of the building, and afterwards handed over to the Coroner who will hold an inquest upon them.—Alta.

FOREIGN SUMMARY.

New Bedford, June 1, 1856.—The whaling ship, Mr. Thackeray sailed for England in the Baltic from New York on the 3rd of May.

Another railroad riot has taken place at Erie, and the office of the Constitutional, a paper devoted to railroad interests, destroyed by a mob.

The U. S. propeller Arctic, which has been in search of the Pacific and other vessels in distress, returned to New-York last week after an unsuccessful cruise of 49 days.

The new dome of the Capitol at Washington will cost, according to the estimate of Mr. Walters, the architect, about a million of dollars. Its construction was commenced with an appropriation of $100,000.

On the recommendation of Lord Palmerston, Queen Victoria has conferred a pension of £100 per annum on Samuel Lover, the popular Irish novelist and songwriter.

The new suspension bridge over the Falls of Montmorency, at Montreal, gave way on the 30th ult., and the whole structure, with a man, woman, horse and cart, was carried over the Falls.

John S. C. Abbott, whose history of Napoleon, first published in Harpers' Magazine, has attracted much notice, sent a copy of his work to the present Emperor recently, and has received a letter and gold medal in reply.

The yacht schooner W. Stetson of New-York, 200 tons burthen, has been chartered and will cruise as far east as the Western Islands, in search of the Steamer Pacific.

A Paris correspondent writes that M. Dubois, the physician of the Queen of France, is to receive the moderate fee of 500,000fr. for his services on the late interesting occasion.

The Emperor Napoleon has bestowed medals of gold, on the captain, mate, and four sailors of the American ship Northampton, as a reward for rescuing the crew of the French ship Eugene.

Major Delafield, Major Mordecai, and Capt. McClean, U. S. officers who were sent out to inspect military establishments in Europe, and view the operations of attack and defence at the siege of Sebastopol returned in the Persia.

Victoria has had a golden inkstand made for the King of Siam, on which are engraved all his names, viz: Phra Bora Somdet Phra Parumrend Maha Mongklat Phra Chom Klan Chan Yu Hua.

A non-commissioned officer in the U. S. Army by the name of Mason, having got into a dance house in New York, on Saturday night, was there kept, after being stupefied with liquor, until the following Friday, losing in the meantime a bag of gold worth $350.

The steamship Adriatic of the Collins' line, recently launched most successfully, and now waiting her machinery, is the longest of American ships, and in tonnage larger than any afloat—the much-talked-of Cunard steamship Persia being slightly longer, but of less capacity to the extent of a hundred tons or more.

P. T. Barnum has again been before the Superior Court of New-York at the suit of J. Bingham. He says that he has been subjected to an unnecessary degree of hydraulic pressure, and has been squeezed perfectly dry, adding: "If you doubt it I hope you will give the machine another turn, so as to save labor to your successors."

AN OBSTINATE SHERIFF.—The sheriff of Franklin Co., Ala., lately hung a man after receiving a respite from the Gov. of the State. He pronounced the document a forgery and disregarded it, but it was genuine, and the sheriff is to be tried for murder.

Florence Nightingale, the saint of no sect, the angel of humanity, has been gazetted officially as Directress-General of all hospitals in the British dominions. No nurses can for the future be appointed in any public hospital without her sanction. She has been ill for some time past, but is quite recovered. How beautiful beyond all crowns or glories it must be to feel that her smallest sorrow is a sorrow to all the earth, and her most trifling happenings is to the world a joy.

A JONAH.—A gentleman of St. Louis who was seriously injured at the Gasconade bridge disaster last summer, had scarcely recovered when he was almost killed by a railway accident during a journey to the East, and having met no less than three further accidents before reaching Pittsburgh on his way back, some of the passengers refused to go farther in his company, considering him in the light of a Jonah. He is now laid up in that city to recruit, and thinks if he ever reaches home, he will remain there.
